

Select a grade

Pre-K — 2

School Entertainment Life

3 — 5

School Entertainment Life

6 — 12

School Entertainment Life

HELP

Top Ten Things Colleges Look for in a High School Student

1. A high school curriculum that challenges the student.

Academically successful students should include several Honors and Advanced Placement classes.

2. Grades that represent strong effort and an upward trend.

Grades should show an upward trend over the years. However, slightly lower grades in a rigorous program are preferred to all A's in less challenging coursework.

3. Solid scores on standardized tests (SAT, ACT).

These should be consistent with high school performance.

4. Passionate involvement in a few activities, demonstrating leadership and initiative.

Depth, not breadth, of experience is most important.

5. Community service showing evidence of being a "contributor."

Activities should demonstrate concern for other people and a global view.

6. Work or out-of-school experiences (including summer activities) that illustrate responsibility, dedication, and development of areas of interest.

A job or other meaningful use of free time can demonstrate maturity.

7. A well-written essay that provides insight into the student's unique personality, values, and goals.

The application essay should be thoughtful and highly personal. It should demonstrate careful and well-constructed writing.

8. Letters of recommendation from teachers and guidance counselors that give evidence of integrity, special skill, and positive character traits.

Students should request recommendations from teachers who respect their work in an academic discipline.

Related Links

More On

- Taking Standardized Tests

Article

- Avoiding Meningitis

What Works

- Starting the College Search

Quiz

- How Much Do You Know About College Admissions?

Poll

- SAT Prep Courses

Message Boards

- Finding Money for College

More Related Links

9. Supplementary recommendations by adults who have had significant direct contact with the student.

Letters from coaches or supervisors in long-term work or volunteer activities are valuable; however, recommendations from casual acquaintances or family friends, even if they're well known, are rarely given much weight.

10. Anything special that makes the student stand out from the rest of the applicants!

Include honors, awards, evidence of unusual talent or experience, or anything else that makes the student unique. Overall, colleges are seeking students who will be active contributing members of the student body.

This article is published with permission from Independent Educational Consultants Association and FamilyEducation.com.

 E-mail This Article

 Print This Article

More Resources

What Works

Exchange ideas, share solutions, and get advice from parents like you.

Special Needs

Find the latest information and suggestions about Learning Disabilities, ADD, and more.

Expert Advice

Read what leading authorities say on a variety of parenting issues.

Message Boards

Talk to other parents about what's on your mind: your children.

Newsletter Center

Sign up for our popular email newsletters - delivered FREE to your inbox!

About Family Education Network | About Our Partners | How to Advertise | Help | Visit Infoplease | FactMonster Rights | PRIVACY | Terms of Use | © 2000 - 2004 Pearson Education, Inc. All Rights Reserved